continue the program beyond that date if the five towns wished to do so. These steps include: (1) A commitment on the part of the Board of Selectmen in each of the five towns to include the program in the annual budget; (2) An agreement by all selectmen on the size of the budget; (3) An agreement by the selectmen as to the division of the budget among the five towns, and; (4) Voter approval of the budget at the annual town meeting by each of the five towns.

Macomber then outlined some of the projects his office had worked on since the previous Five-Town Planning Meeting which was held May 3, 1972.

Outlined for the three towns in this area was as follows:

Marion: Development of long-term solution to sanitary landfill. Completion of S.R.P.E.D.D. survey questionnaire for transportation planning. Development of Samples of a questionnaire to be mailed to Rochester residents as part of a master plan study was shown as was a report prepared for Wareham's Committee to Study Solid Waste Collection.

During a discussion on solid waste disposal, Marion Selectman Joseph Zora warned that if the five towns did not unite for the interests of this area, the towns would soon lose control of solid waste disposal to the county with the strong likelihood that we would become the dumping ground for areas closer to Boston. Macomber and Zora both emphasized that landfilling with a limited amount of recycling is by far the most economical method of solid waste disposal and is expected to remain so far into the future.

Mattapoissett Selectman John Field asked about recent reports that sanitary landfill as a method of solid waste disposal was

GIVE YOUR HOME A FIRE SAFETY CHECK

Every 37 seconds, a fire breaks out somewhere in the United States. Of these fires, approximately one in three damages or destroys someone's home. No matter what the season, fire can be a relentless enemy and you must be on guard.

Here are some hints from experts in The Hartford Insurance Group's Junior Fire Marshal program, on how to prevent fire in the home:

1. Make youngsters promise not to play with matches and never to build a fire except under adult supervision. More than 27,000 fires each year are caused by children playing with matches.

2. Look through your basement, attic and garage and get rid of old newspapers and other fire-kindling material.

3. Make sure any paint, varnish or oil stored in the garage or basement is kept in tightly closed metal containers and away from the furnace.

4. Get a yearly check-up on all heating equipment. Defective heating and cooking equipment causes one out of every three fires.

5. Keep ashes from the fireplace or furnace in a covered, hole-free metal container and dispose of them frequently.

6. Check to make sure any flammable liquids in the basement or garage are stored in safety-approved metal containers.

7. Have trash and rubbish burned only in a wire mesh or other suitable incinerator. (Note: Many cities prohibit burning of trash.)

8. Unplug the iron cord when the iron is not in use, even for a short time.

9. Be sure that all mops are hung in a safe, well-ventilated place. Check to see that oily rags are either thrown out or kept in metal containers. Oily mops and rags can burst into flame all by themselves.

10. Check on all lamps and electrical appliances to make sure they are not frayed or worn.

11. Make sure that all extension cords are in the open—not over hooks, under rugs, or through partitions or doorways where the insulation may get worn off and be the cause of fire.

12. Be sure that portable heaters are kept away from curtains, drapes, furniture, walls and partitions. Heaters should be regularly checked for leaks and cleanliness.

13. Make sure that your fireplace is covered by a metal fire screen.

14. See if proper-size fuses are in the fuse box . . . and that spare fuses are on hand.

15. Careless smokers cause more fires than anyone else. Never smoke in bed. And be sure that matches and cigarettes are out before leaving them.

16. Discuss the subject of fire with the whole family. Plan how you would escape from each room of the house if fire cut off one or more exits.

17. Check the location of nearest fire alarm box. And learn how to call the fire department.

18. Remind the family that the local fire chief is always willing to offer advice about individual fire problems. When in doubt about any hazardous condition, always seek professional help.

For safety's sake, heed these hints and put them into effect now. Don't let a dangerous situation hang fire.

where suitable land is available there is no reason landfills could not continue for 10, 20, 30, or more years. Macomber explained that what is really meant by these statements is that many areas are running out of land suitable for a landfill and, therefore, they are being forced to turn to more expensive methods of disposal. He further stated that we still have enough suitable land in the five-town area to take care of our landfill needs for the next 50 years if we secure the land now, but that much of the land is rapidly becoming un-

Concern in Mattapoisett

DEAR CITIZEN:

As members of the group which is contesting the legality of the construction at Molly's Cove, we would like to acquaint you with the existing situation. It has been a long frustrating summer for those of us who have been actively participating in this endeavor. At our third meeting on September 6th, Mr. Donald Fleming (our attorney) brought us up to date on the present status of the case. The following is a brief summarization of the events of the past five months.

Late in April the group was formed due to considerable concern over the possible pollution of the marsh at Molly's Cove. Legal counsel was retained, as was a registered civil engineer (Somerville Engineering Co., Inc.). After several weeks of discussions with the developer, his attorney, his engineer, and the Board of Health, a restraining order on all building was issued by the Board of Health early in June. Our contention at that time was that the septic system specifications for the six proposed houses were in violation of the minimum state standards. After the meeting of the group at Hammondtown School, it was agreed that if the builder would limit his development to four houses with re-designed septic systems that both his engineer and ours agreed would work, and if he would place a conservation easement on the remaining marshland, then we would cease our opposition.

Early in July we received a new set of plans for four homes, which we and our engineer and attorney felt were still not within the spirit of the code. The septic systems were of minimum size, their position on the plot plan was not delineated, and the bottom of the leaching fields on all plans were considerably less than two feet above the maximum ground water table, although the state code requires a four foot minimum. August Mr. Fleming advised us that the Board of Health was going to approve the proposed plans and that our only recourse was to seek a court injunction and to enter into subsequent litigation. On August 4th Mr. Robertson was apparently successful in obtaining approval to continue building. The variances were not made public record at that time as required by law and we have demanded that they be properly recorded. Also at that time Mr. Robertson made it quite clear, in no uncertain terms, that he planned to continue building. During the next two weeks we tried desperately to get the State Department of Public Health to exercise its jurisdiction over the case. As a last resort we went to court and obtained a temporary injunction. On Friday, September 1, our attorney was successful in obtaining an injunction pending final hearing of the case, barring the building of any more homes, and the court put the developer on notice that any further work on the two homes presently under construction was at his own risk. We have thus entered into litigation vs. the local Board of Health, the State Department of Public Health, and the State Department of Natural Resources under Chapter 214 which is a relatively new environmental law giving any 10 persons the right to petition the court to prevent damage to the environment. Presently the case is due to be tried in October. We are contending that: (1) the Board of Health issued the variances in violation of regulations, (2) that the proposed systems will not work properly, and (3) the marsh will eventually receive pollution from these systems. In our opinion, the local Board of Health has not exercised their responsibility to the town. It has been our observation that their meetings are seldom attended by a quorum. Mattapoisett is being faced with the influx of large developments. If the performance of the present Board of Health and the granting of the present variances is allowed to set a precedent, Mattapoisett could be inviting serious pollution problems.

We have chosen to make a stand at this point for the sake of the future of the town. We are very fortunate in having Mr. Fleming represent our interests in this case, and he is confident of our current course of action. There is a great deal that can be done from here on in, particularly in the area of financial support.

We have essentially exhausted our original $820 collected from over 40 contributors. Mr. Fleming has estimated the total cost of court litigation at $1500 which means we must raise another $700. Rather than ask each member to contribute another $20, it has been suggested that we attempt to enlist the financial aid of other interested townspeople. Anyone wishing to contribute should contact or make a check payable to Mrs. Granville Trow, North Street, Mattapoisett; we'll keep you up to date.

Sincerely,

Ralph Sanford, 758-6741

not a major candidate, you say? Well, he numbers among his backers the ten million voters who voted for Gov. George Wallace in '68 and many millions more who would have voted for Wallace this year had he not been gunned down by the Communists. (See American Opinion Oct., '72 for documentation.)

The candidacy of Congressman John Schmitz and publisher Thomas J. Anderson gives the hard working and tax paying voters a real choice this November. Congressman Schmitz has a perfect record, both in the California Senate and in the United States House, of voting against any tax increases and many other bills for funds that simply pour the taxpayers' hard earned money down a rat-hole.

An article from the Standard-Times on "I Hadn't Thought about Buying a Dump, but still" by Everett S. Allen was read by Earle Wilson and was very much enjoyed by the members.

The feature of the program was the cake baking contest by the men. A fine assortment of cakes made and brought in by the male members were rather wonderful. They were judged by Mrs. Wilson of Wareham, Mary Helm of Fairhaven and Edith Johansen of Mattapoisett. The cake made by Mark Breton won first prize, William Smith's, second. Canned cranberry sauce was presented to each. Two of the cakes were used for refreshments and the rest were auctioned off for the ways and means. The cakes were outstanding making it hard for the judges to make a decision.

The next meeting, October 19th, will be a Halloween Party. In charge of decorations will be Susan LaFleur and Ruby Barber. The program is in charge of Mark Harris, Mark Breton and Kathy Buckley. Refreshments will be in charge of Albert Alvernaz.

SEAT BELTS

It has been reported that if everyone wore safety belts when in a car, as many as 20,000 might be saved from death each year.

Recent hearings in the Senate Commerce Committee on the implementation of the 1966 Highway Safety Act disclosed how far we still must go to make American drivers and their cars safe on the highways.

One point of agreement did emerge during the questioning by Senators Hartke and Cook. Private industry and government officials testified that seat belts are still the most reliable and effective device for passenger protection.

Douglas Toms, who heads the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration which has been promoting air bags, or passive restraints, affirmed that seat belts would be an important continuing element in vehicle safety systems. Allstate Insurance Company's testimony, centering on its experiments with air bags, made it clear that seat belts most certainly should be required in conjunction with air bags.

It is by now clear, future technology apart, that the American people have at their fingertips an effective and proven life-saver in their seat belts. Toms has said that if seat belt use increased to 75 percent or more, air bags probably wouldn't be needed at all.

Taking into account the estimated $300 air bag add-on to new car price tags on top of the cost of government-mandated emission controls, and experts believe these are necessary, you're talking about a significant consumer pocketbook issue as well as (your own) survival in an accident.

The few seconds you take to buckle up before driving are a small investment in your life and the safety of others in your car.

Brooke, Edward Kennedy and Congressman Hastings Keith jointly announced today that the President's Inter-Agency Economic Adjustment Committee will visit Otis Air Force Base next Wednesday and Thursday (October 18 & 19). Brooke, Kennedy and Keith invited Cape Cod officials, leaders and residents to participate in the meetings.

The Federal Team, composed of representatives from Federal agencies involved or potentially involved with the developments at Otis, will meet with Cape and Massachusetts officials on Wednesday evening and with all interested residents of the Otis area on Thursday.

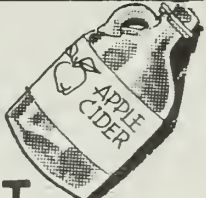

The Inter-Agency Committee was established by President Nixon on March 4, 1970 to assist communities hurt by Defense base personnel reductions, closures or contract cutbacks. To raise the level of economic activity on the Cape, the Team will work to match the right Federal responses to Cape Cod's needs.

be a dinner meeting Wednesday evening where William Sheehan, Director of the Committee, is expected to explain to Cape officials how the team works to assist communities in their adjustment to the economic impact. Following Mr. Sheehan will be Joseph Meis, of the Office of the Air Force Assistant Secretary for Installations and Logistics. He will explain the continued Federal usage of Otis and the potential availability of property.

Thursday morning the entire Cape community is invited to participate in workshops on education, economic development, housing and property. Each workshop will consist of Team members from the appropriate Federal agency as well as representatives of the State and local governments. A report of those meeting will be discussed by the entire group later Thursday afternoon.

HIGHWAY SAFETY IS NO SUPERSTITION IN 13 STATES - 10 MORE TO FOLLOW

Thirteen is not unlucky where highway safety is concerned.

That is the number of states which have now passed habitual traffic offender laws to curb dangerous drivers and remove them from the highways, if necessary. Ohio became number 13 in early June and the fifth state to enact this type of law in 1972.

Habitual Offender laws prescribe that drivers who accumulate multiple traffic convictions for serious or lesser violations can lose their licenses from a few years to life. In most of the 13 states, according to the Consumers Insurance Information Bureau, Habitual Offenders face stiff prison terms if they are convicted of driving afterward.

The National Association of Insurance Agents, sponsor of the Bureau, has been conducting a national campaign to get such a law enacted in each of the 50 states.
Toward this end, it has developed a model law which it has recommended to each of its state affiliates to use as a guide.

NAIA's Model Laws specify that conviction for three serious offenses such as: vehicular manslaughter, drunk or impaired driving; hit and run; driving without a license or while license is suspended; or 10 lesser moving violations within five years results in court proceedings to adjudge the driver as an Habitual Offender and loss of license for at least five years. It also calls for a prison term of one to five years for Habitual Offenders violating the court's order not to drive.

Offender laws reflect a growing national concern for the high level of death and injury on the highways, the Bureau said. It pointed out that in 1971 over 55,000 people died on the highways and nearly 5 million were injured. Half of the deaths were attributable to alcohol.

Massachusetts is among the 13 states with Habitual Offender laws.
